Sen Wyden called Jeff Skilling and I subsequently spoke to his staffer, Joshua Sheinkman.

As you know, Wyden wants to introduce legislation to facilitate disclosure of=20 operating information about the electric grid and is now looking for more details. Wyden is not interested in pressing for additional disclosure of financial information.

The additional details they are looking for include: what information should be made available; when should it be made available, how should it be made available and who should make it available. On this last point, I suggested that the legislation should apply to the transmission system operator, whoever that is (i.e. it could be an investor owned utility, a publicly-owned=20 utility, an ISO or an RTO). I also pointed out that FERC could make this happen by itself, except in the case of public utilities like BPA. Extending=20 FERC jurisdiction to these entities could be among the main benefits of the legislation.

Alan, please pull together the recommendations on each of these issues and forward to Linda. Linda, after we have the information (and perhaps some legislative language to go with it) please forward to Joshua at joshua_sheinkman@wyden.senate.gov.

Wyden would like our help in getting Sen Nickles to cosponsor the legislation. (Linda)

It may also be useful to suggest a letter from wyden to FERC asking them to use their existing authority to start these disclosures as soon as possible for those entities wver which they have jurisdiction. (Linda and Joe)
